

I couldn't find the official problem statement for this assignment but our purpose was to use classification algorithms of the Scikit library to train and test on the given data sets. Special attention was paid to tuning the parameters of the algorithms.